Fireman "to rescue" in Churchill flood

Her home surrounded by water for second time in two weeks, this pretty resident of Churchill, Ont., is "rescued" by a member of the fire brigade. Some families had just returned to their homes following the first floods of Feb. 15-16 when they were forced to flee again. Rain has swollen the Credit river to three feet over its normal depth.

Weekly editor in Ontario marks 50th anniversary

CARP, Ont.—At 77, James Albert Evoy, a white-mustached, blue-eyed man, has little time to reflect on his past. He has reached the end of 50 years as the one-man staff of his weekly newspaper, the Carp Review, and at his age—or any other age—it keeps a man busy editing, reporting, writing editorials, operating the linotype and carrying on a thriving job printing business. Mr. Evoy's eight-page newspaper began a second half-century of publication in this town 25 miles east of Ottawa when the regular issue on Feb. 25.

Running a one-man organization gives little time for holidays. Being a practical man, Mr. Evoy just closes down for two weeks each summer—after first warning his subscribers in advance.

The Carp Review, which goes into 1,000 Carp and district homes, is edited, printed and published on the ground floor of a solid old brick building that has served as office and home for Mr. Evoy since 1921. That's the year the original plant burned down and the only time since he started his newspaper in 1904 that it ever suspended publication.

YOUNG PUBLISHER
Mr. Evoy arrived in Carp with his wife and two children the year he started the newspaper. He previously had worked on the Kemptville Advance and the then Daily Echo in Smiths Falls.

Through the years, the newspaper has changed. Subscription rates have doubled to $2 a year. The original four-column width of its pages has been extended to accommodate five columns of news, pictures and advertising. But the Carp Review still carries its editorials on farming and still is the main source of local news.

Every Wednesday, the four pages of type set here—the other four are printed in Toronto—must be locked up and fitted on the bed of the aging Cothell cylinder press. It is then that the white-haired publisher calls for assistance from his family to help address and package the paper and send it on its way for Thursday-morning delivery.

On May 27, Mr. Evoy will celebrate two other major events in his life—his birthday and his wedding day. It was 21 years from the day in 1976 on which he was born that he was married to Miss Eva Ballance in Kemptville.

Badminton club bridge tourney

Current results of the Kelowna Badminton Club bridge tournament have been announced. In the consolation finals, winners were Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Bourque, while Mr. and Mrs. John Graf were runners-up. In the open event, the finals will shortly be played between Mrs. J. D. Gemmill and Mrs. Simpson, and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Bury.

new members welcomed to Oyama Legion

OYAMA—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, Branch 189, was held March 3.

Mrs. Mildred Hill and Mrs. Ethel Potoczek were welcomed into the auxiliary. Remnants, suitable for children's garments, were distributed amongst the members, to be made up and, along with knitted garments made by members, sent to the Salvation Army.

The finals of the ladies' snooker tournament were played off last Friday, with Mrs. Eve Wynne emerging as winner. Miss Terry Busch was runner-up.

CRIBBAGE TOURNAMENT
In the mixed cribbage tournament, J. E. Elliott carried off first prize, with Mrs. Ethel Remsberry taking second place.

Entries are now being taken for a mixed doubles snooker tournament, open to members of the branch and auxiliary.

On March 7, seven members of the auxiliary travelled to Vernon to attend the zone meeting held there.

'Peg wedding similar to fairy tale

WINNIPEG—The wedding was in present-day Winnipeg but the bride could have passed as a princess from the pages of a fairy tale. The bride and groom were two young people of Ukrainian extraction—Stephanie Irene Luchynska and Zenon Pohorecky.

Stephanie's marriage costume was styled on the wedding dress of an 11th-century Kievan princess. The groom was dressed as a 15th-century Cossack officer.

The best man, Roman Pohorecky, brother of the groom, and usher Lov Maryne were 17th-century Cossack robes. Bridesmaids Natalia and Eugenia Pohorecky wore 19th-century Ukrainian national costumes.

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane
Women's Travel Authority

One of the world's most dramatic and free spectacles takes place every Spring right over and under our noses. It's the return of the birds. A short drive to field, park or lake anywhere in our country can reveal a remarkable feathered parody of human emotions and institutions.

You can see how birds build artistic and well-equipped homes, entertain lavishly, hold courts of council or justice, impress the opposite sex and practise occupations from fisherman to street cleaner. A pair of binoculars is the only equipment necessary. Just stay still for awhile with the light breeze so that you can see them clearly.

All of us have seen a swarm of crows on a hill or tree top. Next time you pass this sight, stop for a moment. It might be a court-cawing accusation and passing sentence upon a miscreant standing sheepishly in the middle. Or you might stop to see one kind of bird build a house of flower petals glued with spider webs, or another shape his house of clay and cover it with iridescent beetle wings; and some even landscape their homes in the brush with mosses and colorful pebbles or berries.

There are far more enthusiastic amateur bird-lovers than scientists—like the nine million children, who have enrolled in the Juncocksack robes. Bridesmaids Natalia and Eugenia Pohorecky wore 19th-century Ukrainian national costumes.

On March 7, seven members of the auxiliary travelled to Vernon to attend the zone meeting held there.

Elmer E. Eddy, ex-railroader, passes at 87

Elmer Earl Eddy died at the home of his son, Grant Eddy, in Peachland, Wednesday in his 88th year.
Born at Potsdam, New York, he was a retired railroader and had lived in Canada for 80 years, coming to Peachland 25 years ago.
Funeral services will take place in Peachland on Saturday. Arrangements are entrusted to Kelowna Funeral Directors.

Panel discussion

change with a changing world. He pointed out that a far greater percentage of our children go to high school now than 20 years ago, and that the curriculum had to be changed to meet the average needs. Every student benefited from a high school education today even if he was not on top scholastically. Dr. Anderson did not agree with doing away with competition between students. More competition was needed and would provide the right spur for the bright ones. He was very critical of the effective living course, not of its subject matter, but of its long duration. He felt that the whole course could be condensed and given in one year. He was relieved to find that our progressivism had not been carried to extremes as in one New England city where script writing had been completely discarded.

ATTACK UNJUSTIFIED

Mrs. O. L. Jones, mother of five children who obtained their schooling in Kelowna, said at the outset that the current attack on our education was not justified. There was a conflict of ideas over schooling now because our society was gradually changing its social and economic forms. The schools had to adjust to such changes and become more progressive. However, it was a healthy sign that public interest was aroused and any criticism should be along constructive lines. She said that our present methods were more democratic and every child was given his chance to gain a happier life regardless of his background or IQ.

We have now realized that education means far more than a knowledge of the three R's, she said. In our efficient machine-age, where production is so speedy, more leisure hours must be provided for. The music appreciation, drama and sports clubs, cooking, sewing, and manual arts, the so-called "frills," were actually the foundation upon which future well-rounded citizens were built. Mrs. Jones stated that she believed the effective living course was most valuable and could not possibly be condensed into one year. She mentioned three of its most valuable components: 1. Health instruction where good diet was stressed. 2. The home-making and family life, upon which our country depends. 3. Alcohol education, with its rational scientific approach which could help solve the problem where emotional hysteria flared.

In conclusion, she reiterated her faith in the general aims of our present system—to turn out happy, well-adjusted citizens who would take their place in our democracy, willing to do their share and contribute their ability to the common good.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

Nigel Pooley, former school trustee, referred to the Putnam-Weir report of 1924 which had found much to complain about in the schools of that time. One weakness they discovered then is still with us 20 years later. That is the teacher shortage. With 40 pupils in the classroom, the teacher can scarcely be expected to give the individual attention which may be required by the slower students. One more year had been added to the high school course so that a wider range of subjects could be included. But other recommendations made at that time had never been carried out. For instance, it had been suggested that the gifted students be provided with special teachers. This of course had never been attempted.

We were still short of teachers and the gravity of the situation was worse each year. He felt that the Department of Education had never tackled this problem in a forthright manner. We, as taxpayers were partly to blame because we would always compute what we were paying out for education, but did not stop to count the cost of other requirements. And we failed to realize that we were paying year by year for police, prisons and mental hospitals which increased because of the lack of education and healthy surroundings among the less fortunate of our fellows. Mr. Pooley believed that the schools were doing a good job in spite of great difficulties and he did not think that the attack on them was justified.

FEWER SUBJECTS

John W. Boodle was the most critical of the six panel members regarding present methods of teaching. He found points in the old system to commend, such as fewer subjects to master and the more intensive competition between the pupils in each classroom. He also thought that children who were ready to learn should not have to wait until their sixth year. More kindergartens were needed where the five-year-old group could start learning to read. He thought that the present methods did not teach the child to think for himself or teach him self-discipline. Since there was more leisure time to fill in our modern world, children should be taught to acquire hobbies and to amuse themselves without being so dependent upon ready-made amusements such as shows, radio, and spectator sports. They must learn to live with themselves and accomplish something of value to themselves and to others.

PANEL VALUABLE

Moderator Robert Hayman then called upon the audience to ask any questions they wished and a general discussion followed. Though no general conclusion was reached on the question discussed it was agreed that such a public panel had value, since various opinions were heard and constructive ideas were welcome. It was found that much adverse criticism hurled at the schools should have been directed against other factors in their lives such as poor comics, magazines, radio programs and movies and, very often, weak parents. The feeling of the audience generally was that our teachers are doing a fine job under great difficulties.

Chairman James Logie thanked the sponsors of the panel, the Local Council of Women and the Kinsmen Club of Kelowna and the high school students who arranged the auditorium and the loud-speaker. On behalf of the teachers' committee Miss Jean of the high school staff, thanked Mr. Hayman and the panel speakers.

Salmon Arm man passes

Funeral services were held recently for Samuel Sinclair Ferguson who died in Salmon Arm hospital March 5 in his 57th year.
Born in Gartmore, Scotland, Mr. Ferguson had lived in East Kelowna before going to Salmon Arm. Members of the Masonic Lodge were in charge of funeral arrangements.

Enough magnesium exists in ocean water to cover the entire earth to a depth of nine feet.

Are the folk across the street,
Just the type I'd care to meet?
Is there something wrong
I see?
Is it them, or
Is it me?
Have I shown a willing heart?
Done a bit more than my part?
When I do, no doubt I'll find,
I've some neighbors who are fine

KELOWNA FUNERAL DIRECTORS

(ARTHUR R. CLARKE) DIAL 1949

Spring prayer week observed by Adventists

March 6-13 is being observed by the youth of the Seventh-day Adventist churches throughout the world as their spring week of prayer.

The youth of the Rutland church are meeting each evening for prayer and study of the scriptures. The Okanagan Academy is having two chapel services each morning, one for grades one to six, and the other for grades seven to twelve. Leading out in the services is Pastor E. Duncan from New Westminster. In his first meeting, held Saturday morning, he read the text, "Acquaint now thyself with Him and be at peace." He called upon the congregation to get to know Jesus personally so that each might find the greatest joy and blessing from the week of prayer.

Mrs. I. E. Crawford, long-time resident, dies in 80th year

A long-time resident of Kelowna, Mrs. Isabella E. Crawford, formerly of Crawford's Mill, died at her home 744 Sutherland Avenue, Tuesday in her 80th year.

Born in Springburn, Glasgow, Scotland, Mrs. Crawford was the widow of David Crawford of Crawford's Falls, and had resided in Kelowna for the past 44 years.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dempster Smith, Gullane, Scotland, and Miss Janet Johnston, Kelowna; four nephews, John and Alastair, New Westminster, Darby Hayes, Kelowna, and David, New Zealand; four nieces, Margaret Hayes, Kelowna, Doris, New Zealand, and Myrtle and Charlotte, New Westminster.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.
Honorary pallbearers will be Dr. W. J. Knox H. C. S. Collett and C. H. Jackson.

Specialty Written for The Courier By GERRY LOUGHEE

Construction has begun on a village of new apartment houses and five-room cottages that will house 6,000 athletes expected to compete in the 1956 Olympics in Australia. To be built in Heidelberg, 10 miles from the centre of Melbourne, the village will be spread over 42 acres of park land and so centralized that there will be easy access to all facilities. Australian officials say the set-up will include all the good features of the 1952 Olympics in Finland and eliminate most of the bad ones.

For example there will be no central kitchen and no one big central dining room as at Kappaly, the main Olympic village in Finland. At the 1952 Games, for instance, the Danes were situated so far away from the eating spots that they had to ride bicycles back and forth.

OWN DINING ROOMS In Australia there will be six kitchens and six dining areas easily accessible to the athletes. The British Commonwealth and United States competitors will have their own private dining quarters. So will the Mid-European, those from the communist countries and the Far East.

Private dining rooms are being set up for the French, Israelis, Italians and Brazilians-Portuguese. "We had to put the French to themselves because of their unique eating habits," said Leonard Cullen, new deputy technical director of the Games. "They like to sit around their tables and sip special wines. For them, eating is a two or three-hour project and this would hardly fit in with our plans for three eating shifts."

Israeli athletes will have special kosher food. The Italians like privacy, and the Brazilians and Portuguese were put together because of their common language and culture.

THREE BANKS The village will also have three banks, a hospital, a recreation hall, YMCA and Catholic Youth quarters. Each of the six main sections will have local services such as laundry and barber shops. One of the big complaints at Kappaly was the delayed service. There was only one barber shop, for instance. "Scarcely a detail has been overlooked. For the bath-minded Scandinavians, there will be a special sauna bath.

The houses for Olympic village are being constructed by the state. Women competitors will be put up at women's colleges near Melbourne. A shuttle bus-service is scheduled to run between the village and Melbourne at all hours day and night. The village will also have an internal bus service.

Construction will begin in earnest this month after Queen Elizabeth's visit. Such things as clearing the land and laying of pipes were taken care of during the previous six months.

Services today for C. E. Marty, here 50 years

A resident of Kelowna for almost half a century, Charles Emile Marty, passed away in the Kelowna General Hospital, Tuesday, March 9, in his 82nd year.

Born in Paris, France, April 18, 1872, the late Mr. Marty came to Manitoba in 1891, settling at Oak Lake. In 1906 the family moved to Kelowna, where Mr. Marty became well known during his forty-eight years of residence.

Surviving besides his widow Odla are two daughters: Mrs. H. B. DeMontreuil, Okanagan Mission, and Mrs. Leonie Sargenia, Kelowna; four sons, Joseph, Alphonse, Steve and Arthur, all of Kelowna. An infant daughter predeceased him in 1898, and a son, Andrew, was killed in action in World War II, in 1945. He was also predeceased by a brother, Justin Marty. Fourteen grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren, as well as a brother, Joseph, of Parksville, V.I., also are left.

Funeral services for the late Charles Emile Marty were held this morning at 10:00 o'clock from the Church of the Immaculate Conception, with the Rev. W. B. McKenzie celebrating the Requiem Mass. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery, Okanagan Mission, with arrangements entrusted to Kelowna Funeral Directors.

Honorary pallbearers were: Dr. W. J. Knox, Leon Gillard, Bob Vilette, C. Ramponi, William Charman, John Pavle, B. Chichester, and G. Eliso.

Active pallbearers were: John DeMontreuil, Henry DeMontreuil, Jr., Lawrence Sargenia, Jack Greig, Armand Poirras and August Casorso.

Mr. Alva Geen has returned home from a three-week holiday spent in Honolulu.

Ellison notes

ELLISON—The Ellison P.T.A. executive held their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonnell early last week. Following the business session refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Country-dance Club held another of their popular dances last Friday in the school. A good time was enjoyed by everyone and refreshments were served by the members.

The old school bell once again calls the children to their classes. The bell has been repaired recently, after a lapse of twenty-five years.

"Open house" will be held at the school on Friday in connection with Education Week.

Bob Stewart has returned from his trip to Northern Ireland and Scotland.

Ellison residents taking in the Kamloops bull sale held this week are Bob Stewart, Andrew Stewart, W. Bulman, Cliff Clement, and Bruce, Arthur Geen and Gerald. Mr. Bulman will also attend a director's meeting being held there on Friday.

Business Gets Help from Ballet

THE REFLECTION on business is provided by 17-year-old Janet Smith, a budding English ballerina, who lends her art and charm to call attention to a mirror to be displayed with thousands of other products of British industry at this year's British Industries Fair to be held simultaneously in London and Birmingham, May 3-14.

Education week features panel talk, open house

An interesting panel discussion on "Is the Current Attack on Education Justified?" was held here Monday night at the Kelowna Senior High School auditorium.

The discussion—part of current Education Week activities in Kelowna—saw six well-known Kelowna citizens take part in the debate.

Some farm experts say that corn is 25 per cent more nutritious when turned into silage than fodder.

BACKACHE May be Warning

Specially Written for The Courier By HARRY ECCLES Canadian Press Staff Writer

Reaching Manila in the course of his world tour, Prime Minister St. Laurent said "I don't think the people of Asia ever will be Communist."

The Canadian prime minister added: "Happy people are not interested in Communism—the people of Asia are naturally happy, and they have opportunity for future happiness."

The 72-year-old prime minister looked fresh as he stepped from the big RCAF plane which brought him to Manila from Jakarta, Indonesia. His schedule called only for an overnight stop in the Philippines in the closing stages of his six-week goodwill tour. From Manila the itinerary listed a visit to Seoul in South Korea, where he could see the Canadian infantry brigade in Korea, proceeding then to Japan for a visit with the Emperor before flying home via Honolulu and San Francisco.

At Jakarta he was given guest at a state dinner given by President Soekarno of Indonesia. Mr. St. Laurent met prominent political leaders there and was given a briefing on the political and economic situation in Indonesia, which became independent from the Netherlands after the Second World War.

TERRORISTS
The four Puerto Rican nationalists who wounded five members in the house of representatives at Washington in a burst of gunfire will go on trial April 5 on charges of felonious assault with intent to kill.

The five congressmen who fell victims to the fusillade from the galleries are all recovering. They are Alvin Bentley (R. Mich.) who was most seriously hurt; Ben Jensen (R. Iowa), Clifford Davis (D. Tenn.), George Fallon (D. Md.) and Kenneth Roberts (D. Ala.).

At a preliminary court hearing, the assailants were remanded to jail, where they are held in default of $100,000 bail. The three men and a woman are members of the Puerto Rican Nationalists, the same group which included members of the two men who tried to shoot their way into Blair House at Washington and assassinate former president Truman in November, 1950.

The group which rose suddenly during a routine house session, sprayed the chamber with bullets and waved a Puerto Rican flag, was led by Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34, and included Rafael Miranda, 35; Andres Cordero, 38, and Irving Flores, 27, all of New York.

The attack at Washington was immediately condemned by the Puerto Rican legislature at San Juan. The legislative resolution said the Puerto Rican people repudiated the actions of this group of "fanatics and terrorists" and said the shootings represented "an aggression against our own people." Puerto Rico now ranks as a commonwealth associated with the United States, with its own parliament and governor. As such, its citizens enjoy American citizenship, giving them free entry to the United States. Independence would remove that privilege.

EGYPTIANS
Egyptians are to elect a constituent assembly in July, a step toward restoring the nation's parliamentary life. The re-united military regime at Cairo also promised to end press censorship immediately, except for defense matters, and to wipe out the martial law instituted when King Farouk was deposed and exiled in 1952.

The 250-member constituent assembly to draft a constitution and serve as an interim parliament will be inaugurated on July 23, which is the second anniversary of the bloodless coup that dethroned Farouk.

The decisions were reached by the 12-man revolutionary council in consultation with two elder statesmen—ex-premier Ali Maher and Abdel Sanhoury, head of the supreme court. The meeting was attended by both President Mohammed Naguib and Premier Gamal Nasser, who were central figures in the cabinet shakeup that stirred Egypt a few days previously.

Naguib, a general, and Nasser, a lieutenant-colonel who has sometimes been called the power in the army group, appeared on the best of terms. Naguib held both the premiership and presidency until young officers stripped him of both titles and made Nasser premier and acting president. Two days later however they bowed to pressure and restored Naguib, a popular idol, as their figurehead.

As for future policy, Nasser said "we hope this move will show the stability of Egypt, and that we won't have any more talk of military dictatorship and so forth, such as Mr. Churchill has often used in referring to the Naguib government."

FREIGHT RATES
The Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa has laid down an equalized scale of basic freight rates for Canada effective March 1, 1954.

The new scale, generally cutting western rates and boosting those in the East to bring regional levels closer together, substitutes for one proposed tentatively in December, 1952.

The board's order directs equalization of the Pacific coast and the Quebec-New Brunswick border, of the railways' "class" rates. These are the ceiling charges, which carry about one-fifth the $1,000,000,000-a-year rail freight business and on which many other tolls are based.

All traffic within the Atlantic provinces is exempted from equalization, in line with the 1951 parliamentary legislation ordering the board to level off rates as between different regions. The Atlantic rates are protected under the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927.

The major departure from the tentative board order of 1952 is that the new tolls will have a sharper "rate of taper" on long-haul traffic, trimming the charge per mile as the haul lengthens.

Coast zoologist retails beetles

VICTORIA—Paul Parizeau, 32-year-old University of British Columbia zoology graduate is a professional wholesaler and retailer of specimens to universities and high schools in Canada and the United States.

He ships commodities like barnacles, worms, newts, crayfish, moss, beetles, water-fleas, dog-fleas, wasps and so on.

"We collect a lot of things that people don't want," he said, "like black widow spiders, earwigs, cabbage butterflies, etc. There is a market for all of them."

Dog fleas at the moment are worth two cents each wholesale and there are never enough to meet the demand.

Okanagan Mission

Word has been received of the sudden passing of Cleod A. Macdonald in Regina, March 6.

He is survived by his wife, Florence, a son, Alvin, with the RCAF, and a young daughter, Dorothy Anne, at home.

His father, Hugh A. Macdonald, and only sister, Mrs. Anne McClymont, reside at Okanagan Mission, while two brothers Fuston and Orvitt are in Seattle.

Many oldtimers of this district will remember Cleod Macdonald as a former resident here, when he was well known in athletics and sports.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Hugh Macdonald and to Mrs. McClymont.

A former well known resident of the Mission, Mr. A. S. Burdakin, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Mallam. Mr. Burdakin's present home is at Cowichan Bay on Vancouver Island.

At a christening ceremony which took place on Sunday at St. Andrew's Anglican Church, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. C. Benmore was given the name of George Richard Carlie. The Rev. Mr. Snowden officiated and godparents of the baby are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burns.

Friends of R. Davidson, who is a patient in the Kelowna General Hospital will be pleased to know he is making a good recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Stubbs and their son, Henry, drove to Penticton on Saturday. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Ian Dunlop, Rob Goldsmith, Gordon Hoover, and Harvey Bailey who, with Mr. Stubbs attended the Scout patrol leaders' conference. Mrs. Stubbs spent the day visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cassentine, of Penticton. They returned home the same evening.

"Guests at the home of Mr. C. F. Sarsons, are his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Sarsons of Victoria.

The father and son banquet sponsored by the Okanagan Mission Boy Scouts on Friday evening was a most successful and enjoyable affair.

Sixty-four guests were present, including scouts, cubs, and their fathers. The dinner, prepared by the Guides' mothers and served by the Guides was enjoyed by all. After the toast had been proposed, Scout field commissioner, Jack Selverstone gave an inspiring talk on scouting, and Game Warden Don Ellis delighted his audience with anecdotes of cougar-hunting experiences, and asked all to assist him in the preservation of our game, after which a brief question period was held. National Film Board movies were then viewed and the evening wound up with games.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Hill returned on Sunday after a journey to Vancouver, Seattle and Wenatchee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Donaldson have returned from a trip to Vancouver.

Many members of the riding club attended the meeting of the Okanagan Valley Light Horse Improvement Association, held in Penticton on Sunday. Among the delegates from the Mission were Mr. H. C. S. Collett, Mrs. Percy Cookson, Mrs. Monica Crowthers, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barle, Mrs. Vic DeHart, Mrs. Les Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Coe, Mr. Keith Berard, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knowles, Miss Diane Knowles, and Kelowna Riding Club president, Dr. C. D. Newby.

The meeting and luncheon were held aboard the S.S. Sicamous, with entertainment provided by the Vernon Riding Club in the form of an entertaining skit.

Benvoulin

BENVOLIN—On March 2, a CG IT group was organized in the Benvoulin district under the leadership of Mrs. W. Tucker. The officers who were elected are president, Faye Doran; vice-president, Muriel Burt; secretary, Maryanne Tucker; treasurer, Dianne Tucker; projects and handicrafts, Donna Nichols; refreshments, Beverley Hill and Heather Cooper.

The home of Mr. Stribling was totally destroyed by fire March 4. This was the second fire Mr. Stribling suffered in four years. At present John Stribling is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Mugford and Mr. Stribling is in town.

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chamberlain and family are glad to have them in the vicinity again. They now have moved into their new home on the KLO Road.

After spending nine weeks in the Kelowna General Hospital, Sharon Reid was permitted to return to her home on March 7, where she will recuperate after the car-bicycle accident January 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt of the Top Hat Orchestra have their son Ronnie home on a two-week holiday from Pehold, Alberta, where he is stationed with the RCAF.

PERSONAL BATTLE

DUNNVILLE, Ont.—Harold Dickson, president of the Dunnvillite fire department, was out shopping when the fire alarm sounded. With other firemen he rushed to extinguish the blaze at his garage establishment where minor damage was caused.

PROPER CULVERTS

NORTH VANCOUVER—A new bylaw in this district provides that permits will have to be taken out for construction of culverts, which must pass inspection. Home-made culverts built of old hotwater tanks and such are no longer permissible.

Letters to the Editor

Letters should be short and must carry the name and address of the writer. A new address may be used if desired, but preference will be given to letters published over the writer's own name.

The Editor, The Kelowna Courier.

Dear Sir—Mr. Cacchioni certainly voiced my opinion re industries. I too think Kelowna is a lovely little city to live in, but it makes me unhappy to hear young people say (and I am talking from my own experience) there is nothing to do, you can't get a job. This sort of depressed spirit does not make for happiness or contentment but restlessness and in this state of mind our young people leave this fair city and what have we left? Just old folks. Don't you see we need the young people to keep things moving? There has been a lot of talk about the Liquor question lately. Now, let's talk about industries. Why not have a jam factory? We have so much fruit at our disposal it seems too bad so much has to go to waste. I am sure the whole city would benefit through these new developments and especially our young people—so let's get behind this and give them the security they need for contentment. Yours truly,

H. McHORG.

Glenmore notes

GLENMORE—A successful home-cooking sale held last Saturday by the Glenmore P-TA brought in approximately $42. P-TA members wish to thank everyone who donated or helped in any way with the sale.

"Brown Owl" of the Glenmore Brownie Pack, Mrs. W. Short, enrolled two new Brownies recently; Shirley Hume and Jeanette Robertshaw. Three other girls were successful in getting their "Golden Hand" awards; these being, Judy Grimmett, Shariene Henri and Gloria Snodgrass.

Lynn Allan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allan, spent last weekend in Vernon visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gellatly.

Mrs. Ron Lyon and family, of Sicamous, recently spent a week visiting Mrs. Lyons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sutton, of Bankhead. Mrs. Sutton then accompanied her daughter back to Sicamous to spend a week as her guest there.

Several members of the Glenmore Scout Troop were in Penticton over the week-end attending a Patrol Leaders' Conference and Scouters' chinwag. Those who made the trip were Wayne Hill, Johnnie McDonald, Dennis Murdoch, Joe Otens, Ford Marshall and Murray

Brown. Mrs. L. Costa spent two weeks in Prince George recently, visiting her daughter, Angelina.

The companion, also 13, told police his rifle accidentally discharged as they were wading through the snow of a swamp.

Nine-tenths of the Canadian forests are owned by the people. Canada has 18 paper mills.

South Kelowna

SOUTH KELOWNA—A party to celebrate Founders' Day was put on by South Kelowna P-TA Friday and was very successful.

Prizes were awarded for bingo and other games, and refreshments were in the form of box lunches, which were brought by the ladies and auctioned by Ed Field to the gentlemen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur, and their small daughter, of Montreal, were visitors at the home of Mr. Arthur's brother, James Arthur, Jr., and family, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Taylor left early on Wednesday for the coast.

Open house was held at the school on Thursday afternoon, and was well attended by parents and friends.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held March 15.

Money earned through newspaper route enables Toronto girl to visit England

TORONTO—Already a lively young business woman, 11-year-old Valerie Sampson of nearby Wexford has earned enough from her paper route to buy a return plane ticket to England, where she will spend three months with relatives.

She accomplished her aim in little more than a year, building up her own paper route from three to 111 deliveries, and setting up three boys in business with the overflow from her expanding area.

Her parents say the brown-eyed youngster got started on her push to financial independence because she's impatient. The Sampson family came to Canada from England in 1950.

Working on a "five-year plan" of their own, they decided to revisit England as soon as they had the money. They talked and planned so much that young Valerie caught the fever.

BEATS DEADLINE
"When I found out I could go half-fare up until my 12th birthday," Valerie said, "I decided I had better earn the money to go right away."

"You see I plan to leave nine days before my birthday in June and, since I will buy my return ticket then, the airline won't make me pay full fare either way," she explained.

In order to take her trip, Valerie has cut her expenses down to the bone. She used to allow herself 25 cents a week spending money. Now she banks every cent.

Adept at business transactions, she sold her roller skates last week to her eight-year-old brother, Christopher, for $4. She is also negotiating with him for sale of her bike at $12.

Chris is on Valerie's payroll as a helper, and since he has been tending to business she has raised his salary to $4 and sometimes $5 a week.

Work for the young Sampsons begins right after school each day. Chris collects the push wagon which their father built for them and picks up his sister's papers, since he is out of school first. Valerie joins him a half-hour later. For the next two hours the youngsters deliver their papers.

During a big snowfall deliveries may take them about four hours. But Valerie doesn't mind because it means she will see her English relatives very soon.

Canada to export moss for perfume
MONTREAL—Canada soon may export tree moss to perfume makers in France for use in the manufacture of perfume.

A perfume at the famous flower centre of Grasse in southern France, George Fuchs said here recently that residents in Alberta and British Columbia are considering cultivating moss on the bark of trees for export.

Canadian beavers are already working for the perfume industry by yielding a substance from their glands called castoreum used to "fix" perfume essence.

Another, and very popular fixative is ambergris, a whale product worth $1,000 a pound and found mainly in the Azores. Other fixatives include musk from wild goats and civet from civet cats, found in Tibet and Ethiopia.

ESSENCE COSTLY
Pure perfume essence, worth $600 a pound, comes from the heads of white jasmine or other flowers. The perfume is distilled by water, fat impregnation or by gasoline.

The gasoline method is most commonly used to bring out the semi-solid essence found in the sweet wax in flowers. However, when the pork- or beef-fat method is used the fat is spread on a tray with the flowers and after 60 days is beaten with alcohol to yield the scent.

After the alcohol has absorbed the perfume, it is evaporated, leaving the concentrated essence.

Local newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Fazan, will reside here

Rt. Rev. W. B. McKenzie officiated at a quiet ceremony in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9:00 o'clock on Saturday morning, February 27, when Mona Lucie, daughter of Mr. Patrick G. Rooney, Harvey Avenue, and the late Mrs. Rooney, became the bride of Eric Gordon Fazan, son of Mrs. A. and the late Allan Fazan, Osprey Avenue.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown in traditional white satin, the skirt of which ended in a train. Her white veil was caught with a silver sequined headband, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Marjory Marek, the bride's only attendant, was gowned in floor-length orchid nea, and her bouquet was composed of tulips.

Forty guests attended the reception given at the home of Mrs. Yvonne Pringle, McKay Avenue, where a buffet wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. Turk proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. For her son's wedding the groom's mother wore navy with white accessories.

For travelling, the bride donned a pale gray and navy costume. Following a week's honeymoon spent motoring to points south, Mr. and Mrs. Fazan have taken up residence at the Borden Apartments, 911 Borden Avenue.

Ok. Centre whist drive successful

OKANAGAN CENTRE — The "telephone" whist drive put on by the Centre branch of St. Margaret's Guild was a most successful affair.

Hostesses were Mrs. F. W. Parker, Mrs. V. Slater, Mrs. Land, assisted by Mrs. Wentworth and Mrs. S. Ferrell, assisted by Mrs. H. Drought.

Prize-winners were Mrs. Motowyllo and H. Hunter; consolation prizes being awarded to Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Slater, who played a man's hand.

FAT STOCK PRICES DROP AT KAMLOOPS BULL SHOW

KAMLOOPS—Carlots of fat cattle averaged to $19.70 a hundred weight at the auction here Wednesday at the 36th annual Bull Sale and Fat Stock Show.

The price was down 56 cents a hundred from last year's sale, which averaged $20.26. In 1952, record prices averaged $35.45 a hundred.

Grand champion fat steer entered by Irene Gardiner of Barnhartvale here sold for 85 cents a pound on the hoof. The buyer was Canada Safeway Limited of Vancouver.

The week at Ottawa

Specialty Written for The Courier

By DON PEACOCK

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, March—Acting Prime Minister, Mr. Lester B. Pearson, said today that he was declining to answer two questions in parliament about the government's security screening of its workers.

"It is not in the public interest to answer these questions," he said.

"We all abhor McCarthyism, but so far we have been able to do a security job here without resorting to the kind of situation that arises in other countries."

The question, by David Fulton, Progressive Conservative member for Kamloops, asked for the names of members of the government's security panel, for details of its operations and the number of civil servants dismissed or transferred as security risks.

Mr. Pearson's reference was obviously to the United States controversy over methods of Senator Joseph McCarthy's Senate committee investigating Communism among U.S. federal employees. His statement followed by a few hours President Eisenhower's criticism of "disregard for the standards of fair play" in congressional investigations.

ANONYMOUS PANEL

Members of the security panel should remain anonymous, Mr. Pearson said, for it would be "very difficult to get people to serve on the board if their names were published."

Mr. Fulton asked Mr. Pearson to reconsider his stand. The questions had been framed so that the answers would not indicate any employee involved or reveal any security information that should not be disclosed.

Speaker Rene Beaudin eventually ordered the questions dropped under House rules.

Later The Canadian Press learned that some 3,000 federal civil servants have undergone routine security checks in the last year, approximately the number hired during that time plus transfers involving security within government departments.

There was no indication, however, of how many—if any—persons might have been fired as security risks, refused jobs in the first place with the civil service or denied transfers or promotions.

EXTERNAL TRADE DROP

Canada's exports, which normally provide about one-quarter of the country's income, dropped sharply during January.

Shipments to all countries fell to $265,400,000, a drop of $55,900,000 from $321,300,000 in January, 1953, the bureau of statistics reported.

Exports to the United States, Canada's biggest customer, were the lowest since 1950. Those to Britain fell to a 13-year low.

Imports also took a heavy plunge, falling by $45,900,000 to $281,900,000 from $327,800,000 last year, but they still were larger than exports.

The monthly deficit in Canadian trade widened to $16,500,000, from $8,500,000 a year ago.

This sudden shift in external trade was brought to the attention of Trade Minister Howe in the Commons by Hon. Earl Rowe, Progressive Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe. Mr. Howe said the decline involved many categories of commodities, including newsprint. Newsprint production was being maintained, but not so much was shipped out of the country as in some previous months.

Exports cannot be judged on the basis of one month, he said. Weather and other factors are involved. It would take three months of trade to get an idea of how Canada is faring in 1954.

STUDY INSANITY

Two judges, two psychiatrists and a business man have been named as a royal commission to study insanity as a legal defence under Canada's criminal law.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court is chairman of the commission, whose membership was announced in the Commons by Justice Minister Carson.

The vice-chairman is psychiatrist Dr. Gustave Desrochers of Quebec City. An Ontario woman jurist, Judge Helen Kinnear, county court judge of Haldimand county; Dr. Robert O. Jones, professor of psychiatry at Dalhousie University, Halifax; and Joseph Harris of Winnipeg, president of the Great West Life Assurance Company, are the other members.

The commission's inquiry will cover one phase of the Criminal Code, now being revised completely by Parliament for the first time in 62 years. That other aspects, capital and corporal punishment and lotteries, are being studied by a 27-member Senate-Commons committee.

REVEAL SOURCES

The Supreme Court of Canada has refused Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of MacLean's Magazine, permission to appeal a case involving a reporter's right to decline to disclose his sources of information.

The court gave no reason for its decision, which apparently means Mr. Fraser will have to reveal the source of his information for an article written two years ago, dealing with the collapse of the British Columbia Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition government.

Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C., brought a libel suit against the writer and the magazine following publication of the article. Mr. Wismer's counsel obtained from the B.C. courts an order that the writer be questioned in advance of trial.

On advice of his counsel, Mr. Fraser declined to answer questions designed to obtain the names of his informants for the article in question. An order was obtained from Mr. Justice N. W. Wattaker directing Mr. Fraser to answer the questions or the judge's decision was upheld by the B.C. Appeal Court.

Duncan MacTavish, of Ottawa, counsel for Mr. Fraser, had asked leave to appeal, arguing that the case involved an important factor in the freedom of the press. He said the writer's ability to gather information by talking to important persons on the understanding that their names would not be published was his very stock in trade.

Mrs. B. Tresock, former resident, dies in California

Mrs. Blanche Tresock, former resident of Kelowna, died in Ontario, California, February 24, at the age of 80.

Mrs. Tresock came here from Victoria in 1945 and she and her husband owned and operated the El Rancho, until they moved to California about three years ago.

She was born in Gettysburg, South Dakota.

Surviving are her husband, a stepson, Aubrey Collins, of Prince Rupert, and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral services were held in California, March 2.

PLAYOFFS

Detroit Red Wings will take part in their 16th straight Stanley Cup playoffs later this month. No other NHL team can match Detroit's record over the past 16 years. The last time the Wings failed to make the playoffs was in 1937-38. They haven't been out of them since.

that the government should continue with her share of the pension until such a time as she passes away. That at least would provide her with some assistance instead of leaving her completely destitute.

Mr. Knowles is quoted by Hansard as saying: "... it does seem unfair that the line is drawn where it is and that widows of veterans on a 40 percent pension are cut off completely whereas at 50 percent the full widow's pension follows automatically. I realize it is argued that a line has to be drawn somewhere but from my experience it seems to me that the figure of 50 percent must be lowered."

Mr. White joined in the debate saying, in part: "... I think the minister will agree that there are many cases where the widow of a pensioner who is receiving less than 50 percent pension needs that pension far more after the pensioner dies than she did during the lifetime of her husband."

Mr. O. L. Jones made the longest speech on the subject, outlining a specific case: "... To my mind this is unfair. I suggest it should be changed so that the widow would receive at least half the pension received jointly by the pensioner and his wife before his death. The widow should not be left with nothing whatsoever. It may be that those widows are more deserving than the widows of pensioners who were on 100 percent pensions."

These men are, of course, quite right in their arguments. It is the old story of it being very difficult to make a hard and fast rule about anything, particularly something that affects individuals as the circumstances of individuals are never the same. Nevertheless it would seem to this newspaper that some relaxing of the present rule should be made. In such cases it is better to err on the side of leniency. Perhaps, Mr. Jones with his "half pension" suggestion has the key to the whole matter.

Mrs. E. Strome, of Rutland, passes at 70

The death occurred in the Kelowna General Hospital, on Monday, March 8, of Lydia Selma Strome, aged 70 years.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Strome and her husband emigrated to Portland, Oregon, in 1914, and to Canada in 1921, where they farmed on the prairie for many years. The town of Strome, Alberta, is named for Mr. and Mrs. Strome, who were among the first settlers in that district. They came to Rutland two years ago.

Besides her husband, Edwin, in Kelowna, Mrs. Strome is survived by three sisters, in Portland, Oregon.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:00 p.m., from the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Rutland, Pastor S. G. Joyce officiating. Pallbearers are: J. Loran, E. Smel-

Form group to publicize whole valley

First steps to the formation of an Okanagan Valley tourist association were made in Kelowna on Tuesday evening when representatives of the Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton tourists associations met to discuss the advisability of such a step.

The purpose of the proposed group would be to pool publicity resources and talk "Okanagan Valley" rather than three separate and distinct towns. It is felt that the combined effort of the three on a Valley-wide basis would have a much greater impact on any of the individual town's tourist business than would the individual effort of any of the towns is able to make.

It is suggested that the new body be composed of four representatives from each of the three towns, appointed by the respective local tourist associations.

LENGTHEN SEASON
The primary purpose of the whole scheme is to lengthen the tourist season in this area.

The spring months are good holiday and touring months in the Okanagan and the same may be said of September and October. It is expected that some publicity effort will be directed toward encouraging coast and U.S. people to come to the Okanagan during these months, thus lengthening the season and increasing the general tourist business which flows into every pocket in the community.

Blossom time in the Okanagan is one period which it is felt can be advertised to considerable advantage in the coast area. Apple harvest time is another. The Hope-Princeton-Okanagan-Fraser Canyon circle tour is believed to provide a large potential tourist business now that the Fraser Canyon is approaching completion.

A tentative date of March 17 was set for the first meeting of the twelve members of the new body. E. Waldron, president of the Kelowna Tourist Association, conducted the meeting.

PUBLISHERS and editors of B.C. interior newspapers are shown above inspecting new refinery of Royalite Oil Products Limited near Kamloops. Company engineers explained technical details of multi-million dollar project which is slated to go into production April 1. Jack Ames, marketing manager for Royalite; H. R. Hammond, assistant to the president; John Wach, refinery superintendent, and E. B. Lay president of Caribou Engineers Limited, were among company officials who guided newsmen on the tour.

CANADIAN PROJECT

New Kamloops oil refinery inspected by newspapermen

By rpm

A dozen Interior newspapermen had a look at Kamloops' new Royalite oil refinery on Friday. They could understand the wry expressions that flitted across the faces of the construction chiefs when the oil company officials spoke of the plant being in production by April 1st.

On Friday the plant looked a long, long way from being ready for production. Obviously there was much still to be done.

But it was being done. Three hundred and fifty men were engaged on the construction work. Wherever one turned one ran into men by the dozen and the score. Forty or fifty of them were in the pumphouse alone. And they didn't seem to be too happy when they had to step aside and interrupt their work while the visiting VIP's passed by.

There is a great deal to be done before the plant starts producing on schedule April 1st, but somehow one got the impression that Royalite would be producing gasoline on that date.

OFFICIAL OPENING

The newspaper group was drawn together in Kamloops that it might be told something about this new Interior industry. The plant will not be officially opened until June 1955, something more than a year from now, when the "cat cracker" will be in operation and the whole property cleaned up and lawns planted. Then, when the public is permitted to inspect it, there will be none of the busy activity the newsmen saw Friday. There will be buildings and gauges, valves and pumps, aluminum towers and tanks—and crude oil being broken down into the several types of oil and gasoline which today's motorized public and industry demands.

The plant, newsmen were told, when in full production will use 8,000 barrels of crude a day and will produce 72,000,000 gallons of gasoline and oil a year. This amount would supply the entire Okanagan Valley, if the company by any remote chance were to capture the entire Okanagan market.

However, that being unlikely, the company believes it can economically serve the Okanagan, the Cariboo, the West Kootenay and the eastern part of the Fraser Canyon.

It will be a "Royalite" show all the way, company officials said. All the way from well to the consumer's tank. Crude from the company's wells in the Redwater field in Alberta will flow to Kamloops through the Transmountain pipeline in which Royalite has an interest, through the refinery and through Royalite distributors to the consumers. The company is now lining up service stations or locations throughout the territory. The company policy is to work through the independent service station operators and it will have available for its outlets a complete line of oil products.

Although the company's own high test gasoline will not be available until the end of the year as the "cat cracker" will not be "in stream" before then, the Royalite stations as they are opened will have available high test as well as other grades of gasoline.

INTEREST HIGH

Last October this reporter, writing of a tour of the Edmonton oil fields, stated that the Royalite operation was being watched with interest by the large companies. That company has a four-cent per gallon protection in the Interior through the elimination of the rail haul from the coast. "Royalite" would set the price pace in the Interior, it was said.

When asked about this aspect Royalite officials said that they were planning to creep before they ran and that there would be no immediate reduction in gasoline or oil prices in the Interior. One could not quarrel with that policy. Pressed further, they said that if their operation was successful, as it promised, some reduction in price levels might come about. Understandably, their comments were indefinite and well guarded with ifs, ands and but's.

Royalite claims one distinction. It is an all-Canadian company. It is Canadian controlled, although there are shareholders in many countries of the world.

The plant is an all-Canadian plant in that it is being built with an all-Canadian staff, and is probably the first refinery in Canada to be built without the assistance of imported engineers and technicians. Canadian workmanship has gone into some of the important components of an oil refinery for the first time. Vancouver plants have constructed certain essential parts not produced in Canada before.

NEAR GOLF COURSE

The refinery is located on the Tranquille road immediately east of the Kamloops golf course. From the golfclub house, the neat of tanks looks like a group of some super-activated mushrooms in a 3-D movie. Only one of the tanks is painted as yet. It shines brightly aluminum in the spring sun. It is one of the two 80,000-barrel crude oil tanks. A score of others of lesser capacity and as yet unpainted crouch blackly in the sun.

The property was purchased from the Kamloops golf club for $30,000, eliminating many a financial headache for the members of that organization. With this in mind, and remembering, too, that the refinery brings a 100-man permanent payroll to the town, Kamloops dividers will be pardoned if when they dub a shot they blame it on the shine in their eyes from "those darned oil tanks."

News and views of scouting

by DES OSWELL, District Scoutmaster

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we add to the list of scouting merits the name of a new scout, the First Peachland Wolf Cub Pack.

EAST KELLOWNA

The First East Kelowna Group of the Boy Scouts are holding their annual card party and auction on March 10 in the East Kelowna Community Hall. There will be a choice of bridge or whist. Refreshments, good prizes and an auction of several useful items will complete the evening. Admission is 50 cents each. The time, 8:00 p.m. This is a chance for East Kelowna to get behind their scouts and cubs to help them to raise funds which are so necessary.

RUTLAND

The First Rutland Scout Troop has just completed a bottle drive. It was a most successful affair and plans are now being made to make it a twice a year drive. Well done Rutland, keep up the good work.

"We need more assistance" is a plea that has appeared in this column more than once. Our scouts are overworked as are scouts in many other districts. Few people will disagree with this statement. However, I wonder if we make enough use of the layman who can be found to help instruct in special subjects, to help on the group committee, and to perform the thousand and one tasks which need to be done. Are you using all the potential supporters in your community?

An assistant scoutmaster is one thing but where they are not available right away, possibly an interested supporter would help. Look around.

Agree right hand turns on lights speed up traffic

Preliminary enquiries disclose that right hand turns on red lights work satisfactorily in many other cities.

This was reported by Ald. Dick Parkinson at a recent council meeting. When attending a recent Okanagan Valley Municipal Association meeting in Kamloops, Mr. Parkinson conferred with the RCMP in that city, and they agreed that right hand turns on red traffic lights speed up traffic.

"They are of the opinion that it would work more efficiently here, as our streets are wider," Mr. Parkinson said. The matter was discussed at a recent meeting of the council, and referred to the traffic advisory council for a recommendation.

Barbara Brent's BUYS WHYS

MONTREAL, March 11th — Let's have baked beans for dinner! That's a suggestion that comes straight from a man's heart... particularly when he knows he'll get the succulent, baked-in-real-oven beans that come from the Heinz OVEN-BAKED BEANS, either alone or combined with other foods like this—

All-Star Casserole

1 cup sliced celery
1 cup sliced onion
1 can (30 ounces) Heinz Oven-Baked Beans with Pork and Tomato Sauce
Heat butter in a frying pan; add onion and celery and fry, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender and golden. Cut salami slices into star shapes; cut remaining bits of salami into small pieces. Turn Heinz Beans into a casserole; add vegetable mixture and bits of salami and sauté lightly. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375 deg.) 20 minutes. Uncover casserole and arrange salami stars over beans; return to oven and bake uncovered about 10 minutes longer. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives. Makes 3 or 4 servings.

There are many delicious, economical and nourishing recipes in Heinz' Oven-Baked Bean Recipe Booklet. Write to me for your FREE COPY... Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal.

Young Glenmore couple wed recently at Church of Immaculate Conception

Regina Rose Allen Bulach, daughter of Mr. Joe Bulach, Glenmore, became the bride of John Joseph Carl Gertel, son of Mrs. Joe Bulach, Glenmore, at a 10:30 o'clock ceremony solemnized recently in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Father W. A. McKenzie officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white net over satin, styled with a fitted, long-sleeved bodice fastened down the front with tiny buttons, and a bouffant skirt. Her full-length veil of net was lace-trimmed, and both the jacket of her dress and her headpiece were trimmed with sequins, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Bridal attendants were Kathleen Bulach, and Rosie Bachman, Miss Bulach's ballerina-length dress was of pink net over satin, the bodice of which featured short puffed sleeves. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. Miss Bachman wore a ballerina-length dress of mauve net over satin, and carried white carnations.

The groom was supported by Emmanuel Roth and Otto Bulach. Organist for the ceremony was Mrs. Tullie Slingsby, and the soloist was Patsy Bachman, of Ellison.

Following the ceremony two hundred guests attended the reception held in the East Kelowna Community Hall, where Father McKenzie proposed the toast to the bride. The groom's mother wore a navy blue afternoon dress and a corsage of red roses.

A white lace cloth covered the bride's table, which was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Yellow, pink and white roses were the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Gertel will reside at the Mill Stream Motel, Vernon Road.

Women's Institute supports Okanagan bridge resolution

The question of a bridge across Okanagan Lake between Kelowna and Westbank was brought up at the March meeting of Kelowna Women's Institute and members and visitors present voted unanimously for such construction.

Other business dealt with before S. Weeks gave his excellent talk on gardens, vegetables and flowers, included the decision to send an Easter gift to the Institute's adopted child in Austria; a donation to Sunnyside Centre and the reading of correspondence, which included several expressions of gratitude for donations to various causes.

SPRING CLEANING
Mrs. B. Charters offered a worthwhile suggestion for any time, but particularly for spring-cleaning: the use of a pipe-cleaner dipped in silver cream polish to get into small corners when cleaning silver pieces.

Following the speaker of the evening, who was introduced by Institute president Mrs. M. Nicol, and whose talk is given elsewhere, the president introduced W. Goodland and Mr. Haig, of the employment service, who showed the film "Everybody's Handicapped." Following this film, which was appreciated by all present, Mrs. B. Charters, assisted by members and friends, served refreshments.

Mrs. Henry Parker Summerland girl has 91st birthday — bakes own cake

Among the nonagenarians in our city is Mrs. Henry Parker, of 480 Groves Avenue, who, on the twenty-second of last month, celebrated her ninety-first birthday.

Mrs. Parker's daughter, Mrs. H. Klein, of Nelson, and another daughter, Mrs. H. Wann, who lives with her mother, together with numerous neighbors and other guests, were present on the occasion of Mrs. Parker's birthday.

Coming originally from Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Parker farmed on the prairie before coming to Kelowna in 1919, where they stayed for three years. Moving to Westbank in 1922, they had a home and small orchard until Mr. Parker's death, at the age of eighty-five, in 1943, in which year, had Mr. Parker lived for another month, they would have celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Parker lived with her daughters in Nelson and his vicinity for four and a half years, when she returned to Kelowna and bought her home on Groves Avenue.

Of her six daughters, five are living. She also has sixteen grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren. One of her grandsons, Eric Wells, with his wife and family, live in Kelowna. He is employed at the Kelowna General Hospital.

Still active and with all her facilities, Mrs. Parker enjoys attending the United Church and other meetings. She is keenly interested in cooking, and made several of the delicacies, including the birthday cake, served to guests at her birthday party.

Gardener addresses women's institute on plants, pests

S. Weeks, who addressed the March meeting of Kelowna Women's Institute on the subject of gardens, vegetables and flowers, opened his remarks by referring to the first garden, the hanging gardens of Babylon, which were built on down to gardens of the present day.

Speaking of gardens of the Okanagan in particular, Mr. Weeks explained the difference in treatment required on irrigated versus non-irrigated grounds.

Regarding light and heavy soils, the speaker recommended sandy soil for carrots, heavy soil for parsnips and black muck for celery. Cauliflower, cabbage and Brussels sprouts prefer a medium to heavy soil and a heavy application of manure. Mr. Weeks went on, adding that eggplant, so-called, crushed to a powder and sprinkled in the rows, is a good topic for cabbage and lettuce. Desiccated sheep manure, potato and blood and bone are good, and will not burn the plants.

Touching on garden pests, Mr. Weeks recommended a DDT spray for earwig, worm, and for fly in carrots, onions and radishes. Such spray is harmless to vegetables, he said. Plant potatoes where carrots have been grown, was another bit of advice given, and the audience was reminded that it is not always the garden, nor yet the gardener who is to blame when poor crops result. Sometimes poor seed is at fault, he went on, and concerning saving one's own seed, cautioned to avoid moulding.

Careful staking of bulbs in the fall, with care being taken that storage be neither too warm or too cold, was recommended, and in reference to the planting of dahlias, these should be set down to four inches then laid on their side to prevent water from the stems getting into the root which would result in rotting of the tubers.

To secure air circulation from the rows of peas, Mr. Weeks suggested thinning out at a stage at intervals along the rows to protect the seed and young plants.

To reduce somewhat the number of earwigs for which pest nothing seems particularly effective, Mr. Weeks advised the use of grass cuttings. These cuttings, laid around the base of plants, inches from the walls, and left for awhile, would when moved, be found to have attracted thousands of earwigs. Boiling water poured over them before they had time to get away, was the best means of lessening their numbers, he concluded.

Friends honor recent bride with shower

EAST KELLOWNA—A miscellaneous shower was held in the Community Hall last Friday, when about 40 guests assembled to honor Miss May Fairweather, whose marriage to Mr. David Hall, of Calgary, took place on Saturday.

Valer of purple-willows decorated the bride's table, which was piled with attractively-wrapped gifts. Assisting Miss Fairweather were her mother, Mrs. W. Fairweather, and her sister, Mrs. T. Prior. After the gifts were all unwrapped, afternoon tea was served by members of the Women's Institute. The honoree received many lovely and useful gifts.

Under the tower at Ottawa

By O. L. JONES, M.P.

Officially, we have no slums in Canada as the committee dealing with the new housing legislation took steps to erase this word from the bill substituting the word "sub-standard." I doubt if the new word will have the effect that "slum" had in influencing people to improve that unhappy type of housing that is a part of every large town in Canada. I hope this change in name does not indicate indifference on the part of the government to the policy announced some time ago that assistance would be given to eliminate slum conditions in our various towns.

The debate on unemployment was terminated this week after several excellent speeches had been made offering advice and suggestions to eliminate the distress among half a million of our workers. The government did not issue any assurance that it would accept any of the suggestions but will merely continue its placid way trusting that the spring season will open up the customary fields for outdoor labor.

EXPORT TRADE

The main difficulty facing industry today is the shrinkage of our export trade particularly so in the textile, farm implement, coal, mining and fishing industries. Many of these industries have priced themselves out of foreign markets according to several speakers. This point was also made by Acting Prime Minister C. D. Howe, in speaking of a delegation of workers in one of the depressed industries. Mr. Howe's statement that the whole wheat crop harvested last year is unsold discloses one of the reasons for unemployment, particularly in the farm implement trade. This crop, roughly 600 million bushels, means the tying up of approximately one billion dollars until it is eventually disposed of.

The Royal Crown has been removed from the official badge of the armed forces and RCMP, much to the consternation of Mr. Ferguson who loudly demanded the object of the removal and the authority under which it had been done, claiming that this is just another step in severing our relations with the United Kingdom.

Ambassadorial send-off for Dulles

Three Latin-American ambassadors to the United States were on hand to say goodbye to U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as he took off from Washington, D.C., in President Eisenhower's personal plane for the Inter-American conference at Caracas, Venezuela. From left are Senor Don Roberto M. Heurtematte, of Panama, Senor Don Carlos Perez De La Cova, of Venezuela, Secretary Dulles, and Senor Don Manuel Tello of Mexico. Although Dulles—recently returned from Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Berlin—made no statement before boarding the plane it's believed he will press for a unified front against Communist expansion in the western hemisphere. Twenty-one nations of the organization of American states are taking part in the first talks since the 1948 meeting in Bogota, Colombia.

has moved a resolution to amend the pensions act to make provision for the payment of additional pension for legally adopted children. The details have not yet been divulged but it is generally understood that adopted children will be accepted on the same basis as natural-born children to veterans who are in receipt of a pension. There are several such cases in the Okanagan Boundary riding and, for their information, all the Canadian Legion branches will have a copy of this new bill before long and they will also advise the veterans how to proceed with his application for assistance under the new act.

FAMILY BOARD

The government has allowed discussion on the subject of moving national film headquarters from Ottawa to Montreal. Unfortunately, the debate appears to be too late for any action to be taken as we have been given to understand that the land has been purchased and a contract let running into $5,250,000 for the new building. The removal to Montreal has created quite a stir in Ottawa itself. George McNeill, a Liberal member for Ottawa West, asked the government to delay this project until the details had been divulged to Parliament. One of the strong objections raised is the fear that this branch of government endeavor will be severely handicapped by censorship which is a provincial weapon. Several members wanted to know if any assurance had been given by Quebec that the film board would enjoy the same freedom from censorship as they have, up to now, in Ontario. Mr. Drew charged the government with breaking faith with Parliament, quoting the Prime Minister as saying no decision would be made until Parliament had considered the expenditure involved. Mr. Thatcher moved a motion asking that the item in the estimates covering this expenditure should be removed as no logical reason had been given for the transfer to Montreal. Mr. Winters claimed that the making of pictures needed creative talent from both French and English speaking people. Montreal had the largest pool of cultural talent in both languages. He claimed that it was also the centre of a substantial private film-making industry with which the board had dealings.

PRIVATE BILL

Mrs. Fairclough introduced a private bill asking for a law guaranteeing equal rights of pay for both sexes, pointing out that a woman member of parliament gets equal pay with the male members. She also pointed out the fact that such a bill has been enacted in Ontario, British Columbia and Saskatchewan covering employers under provincial jurisdiction. Labor minister Gress did not believe the problem of pay differences between the sexes is serious enough to warrant a law requiring equality in industries under federal jurisdiction pointing out that the major labor bodies making their annual recommendation to the government did not ask for such legislation. Mrs. Fairclough pointed out that labor unions generally favored the idea of equality when equal and satisfactory work was carried out by women. Equal pay, she claimed, would actually protect the men from unfair employers who employ women at a cheaper rate than men labor.

Board ponders street signs

Street signs along the Vernon Road, between Kurfy Court corner and Bernard Avenue, came in for discussion at Tuesday's Kelowna Board of Trade meeting. C. E. R. Buxton broached the matter and said that it was difficult to see street signs such as Olenn, Harvey, etc., regardless of which side a motorist was approaching from on the Vernon road. It was suggested that additional signs be erected on the orchard side of the street, if possible.

FAMILY OPERATION

Gordon's Super-Valu store celebrates third birthday

Gordon's Super-Valu—Kelowna's big, bright supermarket on Bernard Avenue—celebrates its third anniversary this week.

Opened March 15, 1951, in a ceremony that attracted hundreds of Kelowna residents, the now-familiar landmark is three years old and a thriving youngster serving Kelowna and District with the finest in foods and up-to-date marketing facilities.

A family enterprise, Super-Valu has as its head veteran grocery retailer R. J. Gordon, who opened his first store here in 1921 in partnership with the late W. J. Holmes. In later years, Mr. Gordon changed the name of his store to Gordon's Master Market Ltd., and it was from the location at Bernard and Water that he moved to the new store.

Manager of Super-Valu is J. L. "Jack" Gordon, who has 15 years in the grocery business behind him. Another brother, Bill Gordon, manages one of the store's many departments.

EASY SHOPPING

One of the best-arranged stores in the Interior, Super-Valu provides its customers with extra conveniences that make shopping an easy chore. Special refrigeration equipment and wide display counters add to the attractiveness of the store.

The number of shoppers that use Super-Valu has increased each year and has exceeded all expectations of the management.

It took a great deal of initiative and courage to launch the venture but the pioneer Kelowna family believed in the growth of the city and that, having come of age, it deserved a large shopping centre.

Parking facilities allow plenty of space for motorized shoppers.

FREE PARKING

"Parking facilities are a must," states manager Jack Gordon.

"The trend is more and more to drive-in banks, food markets and other businesses."

Continually improved services provide shoppers with the most modern methods of merchandising. Super-Valu is a privately-owned business, with all shares owned by the Gordon family.

It's three years old this week.

Council starts money by-law preliminaries

VERNON—City council committed itself recently to preliminary work on three major money bylaws. Details must be in the hands of city clerk Ian Garven and city solicitor C. W. Morrow by March 15. The bylaws will enable council to borrow money to carry out a number of civic projects.

Absent from the meeting were finance chairman Ald. R. W. Loy, convalescing at home after a period in hospital, and health chairman Ald. George Melvin, now in Arnprior, Ont., attending a federal civil defence course. City Engineer F. G. de Wolf was also missing from his chair at the foot of the council chamber table.

Mayor A. C. Wilde succeeded in convincing works board chairman Ald. Harold Down and fire chairman Ald. W. A. DeWilde that they should move and second a motion calling for drawing up of street reconstruction, waterworks overhaul and new city hall bylaws.

KOREA BOUND

TORONTO—More than 700 members of the Queen's Own Rifles paraded three miles through Toronto streets and attended a religious service before leaving on an 18-month tour of duty in Korea.

MANUFACTURER DIES

MONTREAL—Albert J. Tyler, Quebec textile manufacturer, died at Cowansville, Que. He was 55. Mr. Tyler was president of Standard Cotton Ltd. and Three Rivers Textiles Ltd., which he founded in 1924.

Mayor, council reject request

PENTICTON—Determination by city council not to become involved in the liquor question remained unshaken recently in the face of a delegation from the Parent-Teacher Associations.

George Gay, spokesman for the delegation, urged council to ask the government to hold a plebiscite on the question of intoxicants being sold in dining rooms.

This was the same plebiscite requested by church groups and which council turned down. The church groups are now circulating a petition which, if signed by 35 percent of the voters in the licensing area, will secure the plebiscite.

Mayor C. J. Watson said a fair hearing had been given the previous group and council had decided not to become involved in the question.

Mosquitoes were unknown to Hallow until about 1883.

The above symbol of service and quality will appear shortly at many points throughout the British Columbia Interior, Okanagan Valley, West Kootenays and Cariboo areas. It is the Trade Mark of Royalite Oil Company, Limited, a 100% independent Canadian company.

When Royalite's modern 5,000 barrel a day Kamloops refinery goes on stream this month a complete line of petroleum products will be available in these areas.

Royalite quality products will consist of gasolines, lubricating oils, greases, furnace and heavy fuel oils, together with a complete line of asphalts and road oils. These will be made available through retail service stations and at many bulk stations now being established.

Any persons interested in dealerships or agencies should contact either our Kamloops office or write direct to the Marketing Manager at 239 Sixth Avenue West, Calgary, Alberta.

Road-Test the Newest ... and you won't settle for less!

So much that's new ... and completely proved!

You'll find that the Dodge Royal V-8 brings you the finest of new car features for 1954... a combination of the "dome-shaped" combustion chamber 150 h.p. Red Ram engine, famous for power and economy... and PowerFlite, the smoothest and most powerful of fully automatic transmissions. No other car offers you this great performance combination at so low a price.

You'll be frankly amazed at the control you have over this Dodge Royal—how it clings to curves, and holds the roughest roads with smooth-riding ease.

You'll like its beauty and luxury, too. New chrome treatment increases that longer, lower look... colourful two-tone interiors have wide, restful chair-high seats... floors are covered by rich, deep wool-type carpeting. Twelve new body colours, in lustrous baked enamel can be adapted into 48 two-tone colour combinations.

A road-test will convince you that the Dodge Royal offers you more of the finer qualities you want—unequalled at the price—plus traditional Dodge Dependability.

POWERFLITE fully automatic transmission is standard on Dodge Royal V-8's. It lets you move in one effortless motion from starting to highway speeds—without lifting your foot from the accelerator. Its built-in fluid torque drive gives extra acceleration for fast, oil-cushioned starts.

FULL POWER STEERING takes all the hard work out of parking and steering. It's on the job all the time from the moment you start your engine. Optional at moderate cost on all 1954 Dodge cars.

Andy Patterson

Back in 1940 we wanted to build a house but, having been in Kelowna only a few months, I knew little about the contractors here. I knew nothing about building a house. Inquiring around about contractors, we finally decided that Andy Patterson was the man for us. We decided on him because several people said, in effect, this: Andy Patterson will not give you any ideas, but he will give you sound workmanship and full value for your dollar; he'll build you what you want and do it well and not overcharge you.

That was the man for us. Someone we could trust.

So we went to Andy and talked house to him. He grunted a couple of times and asked a few questions. I think he decided that the b.w. was a rather nice person and that the house would be rather a good house to build.

I told him frankly why I had come to him and that I knew nothing about building. We were entirely in his hands. And we hadn't any money; or at least, very little.

So Andy built our house. We—or rather the b.w.—provided the ideas and he carried them out. We never had an argument. I do not believe he ever overcharged and if he put any shoddy materials or poor workmanship in the house, I am still biliously ignorant of it.

That was the start of a casual and somewhat curious friendship. I never saw Andy much. Once in a while when I needed some little job done, I'd go to him and he'd see to it that it was done. There were times during the boom period when I knew that these little jobs were a nuisance but there would come a twinkle in his eyes and he would give forth with a grunt and I would go away knowing that I could rely on the little job because Andy would look after it. He always did.

So when I think of Andy Patterson, I think of certain words: reliable, conscientious, scrupulous, honest, integrity. These are words to describe man at his best and the pity of it is that there are all too few of us today to whom these words can be applied. To me, Andy Patterson was one of the few.

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESSBITT

VICTORIA—The Throne speech debate has come to an end. It took three weeks. It was a case of speech after speech, hour after hour, day after day.

Now the budget has been delivered and the speechifying has started all over again in what's called the budget debate. One would think one such debate would be enough per session. This may be called the budget debate, but the budget is hardly mentioned. The Throne speech and budget debates are just excuses for members to make speeches.

CCF Mr. Strachan of Cowichan-Newcastle sought to have members' speeches limited to 40 minutes. Nobody would go for it—got eyes Mr. Strachan himself when he spoke.

However, during all the long speech-making there are bright moments. CCF Mr. Harding of Kaslo-Slocan had himself a fine time. He's the best debater in the House. Cleverly he draws out Government benches, and then, quick as a wink, he hits back. It's always a pleasure to hear Mr. Harding.

Liberal Mr. Gregory of Victoria brought along a daffodil for every MLA. The day before CCF Mr. Haggan of Grand Forks-Greenwood had complained about Victoria's biting north winds. This annoyed Mr. Gregory, a loyal Victoria native son.

And so the daffodils, to prove Victoria's a place of constant sunshine and flowers.

GAY TOUCH All the Social Credit members gave their daffodils to Mrs. Lydia Arsens and when she spoke next day they were in a big bowl on her desk. She gave them to CCF's Squire, Howard, Gargrave and Moore, who share happy bachelor quarters during the session.

Mrs. Arsens wished Mr. Gregory (who beat Finance Minister Gundersen in the now-famous Victoria by-election) very well indeed, but she was doubtful of his good wishes for her. She said that she met Mr. Gregory at Christmas-time, and he said to her: "A happy Liberal New Year to you, Mrs. Arsens." Mrs. Arsens said that made her so tongue-tied she couldn't think of a thing to say, an awful predicament for her, or any other woman to be in. She wished she had been quick enough to retort: "And a happy Social Credit New Year to you, Mr. Gregory." That, said Mrs. Arsens, would have been a much brighter New Year greeting.

MARPOLE BRIDGE CCF Mr. Turner of Vancouver East usually starts something but not too much, so far, this session. He was doubtful of the government's promises to really get going on a new Marpole Bridge.

He said the Minister of Public Works, Mr. Gagliardi, got up in the House and he didn't say much about the Marpole Bridge except that he's now known as Mr. Marpole Bridge. Mr. Turner said Mr. Gagliardi said that with a great flourish of trumpets and promptly sat down. "Will the member permit a question?" asked Mr. Marpole Bridge.

"No—I don't think so—not at this time," said Mr. Turner. Having been thus snubbed, Mr. Marpole Bridge walked out of the House.

Mr. Harding said government benches had been lax with their homework, and so he would review the whole government situation. Mr. Gagliardi said: "Please, teacher, may I leave the room?" Teacher Harding said yes, of course. But a few moments later Mr. Harding wanted to talk about public works. Mr. Gagliardi hadn't returned, so Mr. Harding said: "I shouldn't have given him permission."

Lands and Forests Minister Sommers, who is MLA for Rossland-Trail, had himself a fine time, too, making a speech. He went after the Liberals for their criticism of government forest policies. Mr. Sommers said that Liberal Mr. Gibson of Lillooet had given forth with what Mr. Sommers called a garbled batch of verbiage which nobody could possibly understand. Mr. Gibson merely made a voluble dissertation. Mr. Sommers said Mr. Gibson didn't bother to reply, though he grunted a little.

CCF Mr. Gargrave of MacKenzie said he now feels like an old hand making people happy. So Mr. Price in the Legislature, considering it's his third session. However, he looked down to Mr. Uphill, and then he didn't feel such an old hand after all. Mr. Uphill was in the House before Mr. Gargrave was born.

CCF Mr. Shefford of Omineca said the north country wants roads so badly that even toll roads would make people happy. So Mr. Price in the Legislature, considering it's his third session. However, he looked down to Mr. Uphill, and then he didn't feel such an old hand after all. Mr. Uphill was in the House before Mr. Gargrave was born.

METROPOLITAN'S ANNUAL REPORT TO POLICYHOLDERS FOR 1953

Over a Billion Dollars

Paid to Policyholders and Beneficiaries — the Largest Sum in the History of Insurance

More benefits to more people were paid by Metropolitan in 1953 than have ever been paid by any Life Insurance company in a single year. Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries amounted to $1,029,000,000.

When it is realized that Metropolitan's benefit payments are only a portion of those of the Life Insurance industry as a whole, one can readily visualize the tremendous stabilizing force that the people of Canada and the United States have built for themselves through Life Insurance and related coverages.

All in all, 1953 was an outstanding year in your Company's operations. In most respects, it was the best in Metropolitan's 86-year history. In the light of the high level of economic activity in Canada and the United States and the ability of our Field organization, this is not surprising. We can take pride in reaching new heights in service to the peoples of our two countries.

Economic Conditions

In retrospect, 1953 was a year of transition. Uppermost in the minds of all was the cessation of hostilities in Korea. Nevertheless, we fully realize that our goal of a world at peace is far from won, and it is incumbent upon us to continue to remain militarily strong. On the domestic front, a number of influences have been at work to materially reduce the inflationary forces, which for so many years have been driving the cost of living to ever greater heights.

We in the Life Insurance business are particularly conscious of the effects of inflation, which bear so heavily on the thrifty and those dependent on fixed incomes. All efforts to control this danger should receive our fullest support.

In the year ahead, business will be more competitive, but this is no cause for concern. Competition provides the same goods at lower prices, or better goods and services at the same price. Canada and the United States have grown to their present outstanding positions on the basis of competition in a free market.

We are passing through a readjustment period, and have been for a number of months, but fundamentally Canada and the United States are strong. We have, far and away, the greatest productive capacity of any countries in the world. More than this, the people of Canada and the United States have not lost their fundamental traits of thrift, initiative, and faith in God. Our two countries will go to much greater heights of prosperity in a peacetime economy than ever could be achieved in the midst of war.

Metropolitan Highlights of 1953

During 1953, Metropolitan's gain in Life Insurance in force was substantially larger than was ever previously recorded by Metropolitan or any other Life Insurance company in any one year. Metropolitan's Life Insurance in force, at the end of 1953, totalled more than $56 billion. The number of people covered under all forms of Metropolitan policies reached a record high of over 37 million.

The assets of the Company, which help guarantee the fulfillment of its obligations, increased by $719,000,000, and reached $12,312,000,000 at the close of 1953.

Dividends to policyholders during the year reached an all-time high of $214,829,000. The interest rate earned by Metropolitan investments, after deducting investment expenses, increased to 3.31% (compared with 3.21% for 1952), and stood at 3.09% after the United States Federal Income Tax. Mortality continued at a low rate. Expenses increased moderately, largely because of the increased volume of business.

In citing the 1953 accomplishments, we wish to pay particular tribute to the 48,000 men and women in the Metropolitan organization who have made these results possible.

METROPOLITAN OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in Canada during 1953, our 81st year in this country, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

During 1953, Metropolitan's payments to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries amounted to $50,491,762* in death claims — matured policies — accident and health and disability benefits — dividends and other payments. Of these payments, 69% went to living policyholders.

* Incurred basis.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $433,000,000.

Life Insurance in Force

Metropolitan Life Insurance in force in Canada on the lives of 2,700,000 policyholders totalled $3,039,102,831 at the year's end. Of this amount, 56% was Ordinary business, 26% was Industrial and 18% was Group. During 1953, Canadians bought $284,561,640 of new Life Insurance protection in the Metropolitan.

Total Investments in Canada

Metropolitan investments in Canada amounted to $700,376,846 at the end of 1953. These investments are playing an important part in the economy of Canada, with substantial totals of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal bonds and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies, and others.

Health and Welfare Work

Since 1909 Metropolitan has conducted a continuous health-education campaign in Canada and, during 1953, participated in numerous activities. More than 2,340,000 pamphlets on a variety of health and safety topics were distributed monthly health advertisements appeared in national publications — "Good Hints for Good Health" was a daily feature on many radio stations.

Talks about:

LOWER RATES ON Niagara Loans

You might think that rates on loans are exactly the same from company to company. This is an idea that could cost you money, for Niagara Finance has a rate structure that is lower in many cases, and here's the reason why. It's a matter of policy with Niagara to believe that it is no more trouble to make a loan of $5,000 than it is $100,000. And, if the rate of charge was exactly the same on both loans we'd obviously make more money on a $750,000 loan. So we work on the idea that on loans for larger amounts the rate should run "downhill", while at the same time rates on smaller amounts are standard. Besides that, we think you'll like our idea of having loans to $15,000 loaned at no extra cost to you. That's the sort of protection that a family man can appreciate. Come in and see us if you need money we'd like to meet you.

Science can now increase your weight

What is the answer to this ever present problem of putting on weight? Well, science has been working on this problem for some time and at last has produced an answer and product which they feel will satisfy those many people who, in spite of what they eat and how much just can't seem to put on that avoirdupois.

This product, which is the result of years of research is called Lipomul-Oral and is designed as a supplement to the daily food intake and clinical tests show that providing a person is not afflicted with any organic or physical defects and does not while taking Lipomul-Oral, the body with extra effort, will put on weight.

The reason for this is that the normal body only increases in weight provided the calories obtained in their daily intake are sufficient to provide them with energy for their activities and for storage as well. This storage of calories is what produces weight.

However, in order for the body to utilize all the calories in the fats they eat this fat must first be subdivided by the bile into a finely subdivided state. The finer the subdivision the greater the absorption and greater percentage of calories obtained. Lipomul is composed of concentrated essential fats in such a finely subdivided state that it requires very little effort on the part of the body to absorb them and as previously stated that provided a person does not increase their activities while taking the Lipomul the body is supplied with enough calories and energy not only to take care of their daily efforts but for storage as well. Lipomul is a palatable liquid and easily taken with daily meals and is available at Physicians Prescription Pharmacy, Your Prescription Specialists.

Penticton V's hot in opening game; Vernon Canadians smothered 8-1

(Special to The Courier)

PENTICTON—The Penticton V's uncorked a blistering brand of playoff hockey in Penticton Arena Tuesday night as they walloped the Vernon Canadians 8-1 in the first game of the OSHL semi-finals here.

The superb goaltending of Ivan McLelland held the Canucks scoreless up until the final eleven seconds of the game when Art Davidson broke the goose egg for Vernon on a goalmouth scramble with Dick Butler and Jim Malacko.

After falling to throw a shot at Johnny Sotlak until five minutes of the first period had passed, the V's lashed into the scoring with three goals in less than a minute and added another as the period faded to go into the second with a 4-0 lead. Many a blood-chilling drive on both nets failed to change the scoreboard in the middle session but V's went back on their scoring rampage in the final canto to drill home four more markers.

Ernie Rucks banged home a pair of goals along with Jack McIntyre; Jack McDonald, Dick Warwick, Jim Fairburn and Grant Warwick potted singletons with top points going to McIntyre for the addition of three assists to his night's stellar effort.

SUMMARY
First period—Penticton, D. Warwick (G. Warwick, McIntyre) 8:58; Penticton, McIntyre (unassisted) 9:47; Penticton, McDonald (Rucks) 9:52; Penticton, McIntyre (unassisted) 16:23. Penalties: Geary, McDonald, Butler.

OWLVILLE SPORTS

By RON WILLS

Kelowna High gymnasium was as busy as a beehive last Friday night, with three games being run off.

Vernon High sent a boys' and girls' volleyball team to take on Owlville's representative squads in a pair of preliminaries to the main event of the evening, which saw Nelson's Notre Dame Pups up against Golden Owls in an exhibition cage clash.

Kelowna High girl volleyballers took both exhibitions against Vernon girls, while the boys dropped both of theirs to the northern school.

Main event of the evening was one of the finest cage games of the season, with Golden Owls proving a little too much for the highly-rated team from the Kootenays.

Notre Dame Pups got off to a flying start in the initial quarter, collecting thirteen points to Golden Owls' six. Of the thirteen points Pups garnered, twelve were notched by Gene Godderis on field shots.

The other point Notre Dame picked up was on a free shot by Ray Paris. In the second frame, Owls forgot about playing defensive, and outscored visitors 19-11. A further explanation for Kelowna surging ahead in the second stanza might be that Budge Winter was checking Godderis, who scored 42 points for Notre Dame in a game against Kimberley earlier this season.

The nineteen-point spurge gave Kelowna a 25-24 lead over Nelson.

LOCALS SET PACE
Golden Owls took control of the game in the third quarter when they scored 14 points to Notre Dame's eleven. Winter also held Gene Godderis down in the third frame, as Gene just managed to break through for two points. Cliff Serva, captain of the Owls, sparked the local quintette with six points in the third frame.

Cagers from Kelowna High kept up the fast pace in the final ten minutes as they romped through for 13 points, while Pups picked up nine. With the four-point lead in the fourth quarter, Golden Owls set back Notre Dame Pups 52-44.

Vernon Fairholm, who came here recently, led Kelowna in the last quarter scoring eight points.

Vernon, playing junior basketball at the coast before being transferred here by a bank, played a terrific offensive game for the boys in the yellow shirts.

SHOT-CALLING
Golden Owls were the first high school hoopers to defeat the college team this season. . . Pups journeyed to Penticton on Saturday and were set back 50-47 by the southern high school cagers.

Think Ray Paris, who played for the college squad, was the most outstanding individual on the hardwood floor. Ray, who when soaking wet doesn't weigh much more than a basketball, set up more plays and Gordon each added a singleton in the middle frame and Tucker notched four goals, putting the local team into a seven-goal lead at the end of the frame.

Lukowsky accounted for three goals in the final frame, Lowden two, and Blair, Dodds and Gordon scored singles.

The lone penalty of the night went to Lukowsky in the third period for charging.

FIRST TIME
The 1953-54 season will mark the first time in two decades that Sid Abel, coach of the Chicago Black Hawks, has missed taking part in Black Hawks into the Stanley Cup playoff competition. This goes back to Abel's days as an outstanding amateur in Saskatchewan, 12 years with Detroit, and two years in an RCAF team. Last season, his first as a coach, he piloted the Chicago Hawks into the Stanley Cup playoffs.

R. J. GORDON. Secretary-treasurer of the firm. "Bob" has served the public of Kelowna since 1921. Still taking an active part in the operation of this huge food market.

J. L. GORDON. Jack is president and manager of the firm of Gordon's Master Market Ltd. who own and control your Kelowna Super-Valu food store.

BILL GORDON. Bill is manager of the grocery section and has been associated with this store for many years.

IRENE RIEGER. Irene has been with Super-Valu since opening. She's in the meat department and is one of the best.

GEORGE BLAIR. George is meat manager and is sure Grade "A". Been with us almost two years.

MINNIE FARR. Minnie's a meat wrapper and incidentally a sister of Irene. A good worker and a popular member of the staff.

CLARENCE HARRIS. Meat cutters don't come any better than this one. He's been at it for a long time and is one of the gang at Super-Valu.

NEL WITWICKI. If you want to know how to operate one of our latest type cash registers, Nel is the girl to see. She knows all about them. She's been with us almost two years.

VI BARLOW. Another of our cashiers. Accuracy and a friendly smile is assured you from Vi as well as all our other cashiers.

ELSIE ISINGER. Here's a girl who has had years of experience on cash registers and she knows all the answers. They don't come any better.

MIKE HEMELSPECK. The hamburger king of Kelowna we call him. When it comes to meat, Mike knows all the answers.

JAY JOHNSTON. Jay is manager of our produce department. We're proud of the job he's doing and know that we always have one of the best fruit and vegetable racks in B.C.

SANDY HOWARD. We like him and you will too. He's in the produce department and is a real worker.

EDNA MILLAR. In the meat department and a real "hustler." We keep her cool in our refrigerated meat cutting room.

MADELINE SCHAEFER. Madeline is another wrapper in our meat department and has been with us quite some time.

JIM FERGUSON. Jim is manager of the dairy section and if you should ever see some refrigeration at Super-Valu that does not sparkle, he's the one to tell.

NORMAN HUGHESMAN. Norm is one of the newer members of the staff. He's in the grocery department and recently a proud father.

MIKI WRIGHT. Miki is the girl that keeps things straight in the office. A big job and a never-ending one.

BILL MCCARTHY. Here's a fellow we'll like. He sure knows hockey and is just as good at groceries.

This is a great staff. They are all trained to work efficiently and to serve you well.

Here's what Super-Valu means to Kelowna. We provide employment for 22 people. These 22 people spend over $60,000.00 in salaries in Kelowna each year. Most of them own their own home and own a car.

Super-Valu is the greatest adventure in modern food shopping in Kelowna. For three years now we've tried our best to please you. We pledge that during this coming year you'll like shopping at Super-Valu even more than in the past.

BRYAN KANE. Bryan is a Saturday worker. He's fairly new at the grocery game but is doing well at it.

VICKI EPP. Vicki is a school boy and works each week with us. He's a real worker.

JIM KELLY. Another after school boy. He's the potato bagger king of Kelowna.

OWNED AND OPERATED BY THE GORDON FAMILY — SERVING KELOWNA 33 YEARS

THE "NEW LOOK" IN TRAVEL—This is the new sleeping car introduced by the Canadian National Railways. It is of a type never before seen in Canada, and was produced by the CNR following surveys to determine the character of equipment and service sought by the travelling public.

Known as a 4-8-4 to railroaders, the car has four double bedrooms, eight duplex roomettes and four sections. New in design and style, it offers the ultimate in comfort and safety, and is part of CNR orders for 359 new passenger cars—the largest single purchase of passenger rolling stock in Canadian railway history. This new equipment will soon be seen on CNR trains in all sections of Canada.

In the new model, two bedrooms may be converted into one large room by folding the partitions and making adjoining rooms en suite. The beds disappear completely during daytime travel into recesses in the wall and ceiling. Arm chairs may be moved to any position in the room.

For milady (lower photograph) there are stylish dressing tables and china washbasins installed in the bedrooms. A twist of the pre-selector control and a touch of the foot valve provides water at any desired temperature. Each room has its own private toilet annex.

The eight duplex roomettes, with sofa seats and full size beds, are in alternating aisle and upper levels at one end of the car. At the opposite end, the "new look" has been carried to the familiar section space. Ladders set up each night with upper berths make it no longer necessary to ring for the porter to step up or down.

The cars, featuring for the first time the new CNR exterior colors of green, black and gold with the red maple leaf monogram, are built of high strength alloy steel and equipped with the latest safety braking devices. New type undercarriages with coil spring suspension, roller bearings and special anti-sway stabilizers ensure smooth riding. Air conditioning and cooling of drinking water is mechanical and eliminates the need to use natural ice.

Kelowna in bygone days

From the Files of The Kelowna Courier

(From the files of the Kelowna Courier)

March, one year ago

Kelowna Kiwanis Club made plans to construct an iron lung for use at the Kelowna General Hospital.

Trevor Pickering was elected president of the Kelowna Rotary Club.

Kelowna Hospital Board approved granting a seven per cent wage increase to the 85-odd members of the Hospital Employees' Federal Union.

An unpredicted number of blood donors plus the failure of the Vancouver headquarters to supply enough containers resulted in some 38 persons being turned away from the blood donor clinic in Kelowna.

Payment of the balance owing the Northern Electric for installation of the automatic fire alarm system was approved by City Council.

Federation of Fruit and Vegetable Workers' Unions (TLC) asked for a wage increase of 25 per cent for those earning $1 an hour or a 25 cent an hour increase for those earning under $1 an hour.

John Whitney, liability credit officer of the Kelowna branch, Bank of Montreal, was promoted to the post of accountant at the Broadway and Granville drive-in branch in Vancouver.

Thieves broke into the dog pound and released five dogs. They also ran off with the dog food.

MARCH, 10 YEARS AGO
Ottawa announced that meat rationing would be discontinued immediately, and Canadians could now buy as much meat as they wished without use of coupons.

Canada's butter ration was reduced temporarily because production in November, December and January was about 5,400,000 pounds below production for the corresponding period of the previous year.

February was slightly colder than the same month the previous year, but snowfall at intervals throughout the month brought the total up to 10.7 inches.

Dr. Cecil D. Newby was elected president of the Kelowna Golf Club at the annual meeting. William Vance served as vice-president.

Fire broke out in the office of the Laurel Co-operative Union packing house, destroying office furniture and fixtures before being brought under control by the brigade. The blaze had secured a good hold and the office contents were badly damaged before the fire was extinguished. Damage was estimated at over $500.

Francis Nicklen was elected first president of the newly-formed Kelowna Kiwanis Club. Clarence Harris was elected vice-president. Secretary for the year was George Yochim, and Don Henderson was treasurer for the service club.

MARCH, 20 YEARS AGO
Messrs. W. E. Haskins, G. A. Barrett and O. W. Hembling were chosen as the board of directors of tree growers to operate the Unity Fruit Producers Association. Their salaries were fixed at $3,000 per annum each, with travelling expenses when away from the head office on association business.

When the British freighter "Concordia" bound for the Old Country from St. John and Halifax, sailed in the fog with the United States steamship "Black Eagle" forty miles south of Bable Island, about a dozen crew of Okeanigan apples went to the bottom of the sea with the ill-fated vessel whose chief cargo consisted of cattle and grain.

That prize-winning wheat can be grown not only in the Kelowna district but within the city limits was demonstrated by Mr. F. R. E. DeHart whose exhibit of hard spring wheat at the B.C. Seed Fair and Bulb display, held in Victoria won the Vancouver Merchants' Grain Exchange Cup.

Approximately ninety per cent of the entire 1933 apple crop as estimated by the Okanagan stabilization board was marketed, with the exception of the small dump of three and a half per cent.

MARCH, 30 YEARS AGO
Many friends were pleased at the honor which was conferred on the Rev. J. A. Daw, who was elected moderator of the British Columbia Synod of the Presbyterian Church.

At a meeting of the fruit growers of Winfield it was unanimously decided to form a local to be known as the Winfield Co-operative Growers, and the organizing committee, Messrs. Blaker, Coe, Ore, and Aberdeen were instructed to proceed with necessary arrangements as soon as possible.

Mr. W. K. Gwyer, district engineer, was unanimously chosen president of the Penitentiary Fish, Game and Forest Protective Association at the annual meeting of the association.

The C.P.R. made arrangements to build approximately thirty miles of line from Beavermouth north, in connection with the scheme for the electrification of the mountain division.

It was announced that after April 1st, Penitentiary would be the headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

MARCH, 40 YEARS AGO
Motorists were pleased with the amendments made to the Motor Traffic Regulations Act at the session of the legislature. The speed maximum within cities and towns was raised from ten miles per hour to fifteen, and in wooded districts from twelve to fifteen. The maximum in open country remains at the former figure of 25 miles per hour.

A ninth local fruit union, became affiliated with the Okanagan United Growers, Ltd. The new member of the big co-operative association was the Farmers' Exchange Association of Tappen, B.C., the first station west of Salmon Arm on the C.P.R. main line.

Fire broke out over the office of the "Kelowna Record" and at first appeared as though it would assume dangerous proportions. The fire which must have been burning for some time when the alarm was turned in, was not discovered until 1:30 a.m. and a very few minutes later the brigade was hard at work. Excellent water pressure and the good work of the firemen speedily overcame the flames.

Hospital seen for aged home
PENTICTON—The old hospital building here may be restored to usefulness in the future as a senior citizens' home.

Two groups are now interested in the building for this purpose and recently city council gave the green light to the Canadian Pacific Pioneers Association to go ahead with negotiations with the provincial welfare department at Victoria, in an effort to secure approval of the building for this purpose.

Let's talk about cancer

No fooling about it... never underestimate the will of a woman. A few weeks ago Mrs. W. C. Sledal, of Adams Lake, decided to attend the annual meeting of the Kamloops Unit of the Cancer Society. She had no car so—being a thorough, and determined person—arranged for two rides with two different parties. On the morning of the meeting her telephone rang. Both lifts were cancelled.

Mrs. Sledal then telephoned Mrs. Carnell, who lives at the other end of Adams Lake. They agreed that if Mrs. Sledal could get across the lake they would borrow a car.

The thermometer registered 25 degrees below zero.

Mrs. Sledal asked her son to row her across the lake. They were half way across when they found the other half of the lake was sheathed in ice. Son and mother cut their way through the ice and eventually landed in front of Mrs. Carnell's house.

The rest of the trip was cold but successful. After driving for an hour and a half, the two women reached Kamloops in time for the meeting.

It's that sort of person—that type of action—that is keeping the Canadian Cancer Society (or any other so-fortunate organization) alive, ambitious, and strong... if only by example.

Mrs. Thelma Dawson of the Cancer Society has never stopped a train before. But she did last week. On Thursday night Mrs. Dawson was scheduled to speak in Quesnel. Early Thursday morning she grabbed her suitcase, jumped into the car and drove to the airport. But rolling into town at the same time as she was hoping to fly out was Vancouver's frequent visitor, the fog.

Mrs. Dawson fidgeted in C.P.A.'s waiting room for six hours. When the plane finally whirled up its engines and left the ground, she was involved in checking transportation time-tables, radiograms, and general excitement. Landing at Prince George she discovered she had missed the P.G.E. into Quesnel by 40 minutes.

Not at all a considerate creature, the P.G.E. had waited and politely dropped her in Quesnel ten minutes before the meeting.

A new department of the British Columbia Cancer Institute in Vancouver—a radioactive isotope laboratory—is now being set up to help British Columbia's cancer patients. It should be in operation within the next month. Radioactive isotopes are primarily used in the treatment of leukemia (cancer of the blood) and diseases of the lymph glands.

Answers to Questions:
Q. What is meant by a pre-cancerous lesion?
A. Any abnormal condition that, if permitted to continue, may develop into cancer.

Q. What are some of the more important precancerous lesions?
A. White-spot disease on mucous membranes; dry, scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly the face; sores caused by jagged teeth and ill-fitting dental plates; dark-colored moles subject to irritation; unrepaired injuries due to childbirth. These all require the attention of a doctor.

Q. Should all moles be removed?
A. No. A flat colorless mole is probably as harmless as a freckle. Any mole or wart showing change in size or color should receive prompt attention.

FROM HONG KONG
CORBALT, Ont.—Mrs. George Won and her daughter Pearl and Susan arrived from Hong Kong to join Mr. Won, a restaurant keeper here who had not seen his family for more than 14 years. The girls now are enrolled in high school.

through a small gap in the rocks leading to the lighthouse where she keeps a watchful eye on a patient who has high blood pressure.

Her spartan life can be equalled in almost all of the other nine Red Cross hospitals scattered throughout B.C. Cecil Lake closed at the end of the year was approaching its 20th year of operation. Transportation and population had grown so in that time, that the hospital was no longer needed in its outpost capacity and patients could easily get into Fort St. John to hospital there. But should an outbreak or emergency happen in that area, Miss MacMillan points out that five married former Red Cross nurses live up there and would be ready to swing into action.

Nurse Sofia Smith really should have taken a course in veterinary work according to Miss MacMillan. She frequently is called upon to sew up dogs clawed by cougars near Kyuquot. That's cougar country where the women think nothing of shooting cougars on their back porches.

"It's really isolated," says Miss MacMillan and adds, "the mother of all storms must live right up there."

Much of the work is done on the nearby Indian reservation. A call for Nurse Smith brings her out in her hip boots and into a fish-boat from whence she is transferred into an

THE knock on the door in the middle of the night means trouble anywhere. But when someone has come miles and miles it's double trouble.

And it was literally that for Miss Sarah Miller, R.N., nurse in charge of the Red Cross Outpost Hospital at Bamfield on Vancouver Island.

The knock came at 5 a.m. It was a woman in labor—and in a hurry. So much of a hurry that Nurse Miller didn't have time to turn on the lights in the hospital, she used the flashlight she had snapped up when she got out of bed. But, as she has often done, her report to Miss Lillian MacMillan, director of Outpost Hospitals for the Red Cross read: "Baby delivered safely and both mother and baby well."

All Red Cross hospitals could be termed at the end of nowhere as this is their purpose, to give nursing care where there are no other facilities. The nurses who staff these hospitals while they have up-to-date medication and equipment often work under conditions approaching the pioneering efforts of our forefathers.

They use every mode of transportation from cars to snow shoes. Miss Miller often takes journeys to the remote lighthouse at Cape Beale on the southwest corner of Vancouver Island.

She goes in a lifeboat and changes in mid-ocean to a smaller boat which will get her

Indian canoe, then she wades the last bit into shore if the weather is rough.

Nurse Molly Lee at Hudson Hope nursing station away up north has more work to do now with the influx of population due to oil drilling in the area. It all creates more work for the Red Cross outpost and once again transportation difficulties like mud and snow are experienced.

Mrs. Jean Mackie, nurse at Lone Butte, has had some harrowing experiences with logging and other accidents. Last fall she had a call to a fishing lodge in the Cariboo 30 miles away from her hospital where an American dentist was stricken with a coronary thrombosis. Off she went with her oxygen and medication, nursed him for 48 hours without stop then carried on visits twice a day for three weeks until he was able to be flown back home.

The spirit of the woman in the covered wagon lives in these Red Cross nurses. There is a hard life, but a good life in the satisfaction it brings to the distressed in time of need.
